Website Design

2ndzenith Website Design and Internet Marketing

Website Design and Internet Marketing located in the Santa Rosa, Sonoma County, San Francisco Bay Area.

Does your business have a website yet?

With over 210 Million Internet users in the US alone and growing each year, shouldn't your business be online to help reach these huge numbers of potential customers? That's where I come in. Using new and expanding technologies, I can help create a powerful online presence for your business or organization. To get started, view my website portfolio, then complete the website questionnaire form, and I will get back to you with next steps on your project.

Understanding your Business

Every business is different, and so is yours. The first step for me is to understand your business. The main purpose of a website or other advertising is to clearly communicate the availability of a good or service to a potential customer. I want to be sure we understand what this is for you before we start.
